SERVICE IS OUR MISSION

SNS was founded with a shining purpose: to give women both health and beauty. For too long, the nail industry promoted good looks at the cost of damaged nails. SNS saw a better way. Women should have the best of beauty and the best of health.

For years, SNS stood alone, promoting healthy dipping powders to an industry that wasn't yet ready. Then the tide turned.

Today, SNS has imitators all over the world.

But women know best. They still walk into salons asking for "SNS." They realize that only SNS cares for their health and beauty in equal measure.

SNS is now forging ahead with new and exciting products that continue to serve our original mission: the ultimate experience of nail health and beauty!

The Gentle Revolution

How PROSE is Changing the Nail Industry

For several years, PROSE has been quietly redefining the nail salon. Today this unique franchise models the future of the entire industry. Three factors set PROSE apart: its commitment to “clean, healthy and beautiful”, its welcoming membership program, and its consistent celebration of nail professionals.

Vice President Lisa Williams calls the PROSE idea a “revolution”, pointing out that no one before has created a successful franchise that embraces these defining values. The PROSE difference is visible the moment you step into a salon, with its elegant contemporary designs balanced by soft, light-colored natural wood. There’s also a fragrance in the air that separates PROSE from the familiar salon odor of harsh nail chemicals. Rejecting acrylics, the franchise makes a point of its air-cleaning technologies and essential oil aromas.

Captivating the Customer

The key to PROSE’s success is the membership experience. A monthly “Unlimited” subscription secures PROSE members as many visits and services as they like, and there are lower-priced subscriptions for regular monthly treatments. PROSE nail artist and trainer Anna McGraw observes how hard it is for many people to give time to their own self-care. PROSE membership takes away the effort: a budget has been set, and it’s easy to show up for a regular pampering. Just as important, membership means belonging — seeing familiar faces and building relationships with the friendly PROSE staff.

As for the services, they’re all about celebrating and nourishing hands and feet — the most hardworking parts of ourselves, and often the most neglected. With bath bombs, deep foot massages and even facials, PROSE goes way beyond the traditional menu of manicures and pedicures. That’s because its mission is to lift the lives of everyone who steps through a PROSE Nails door. “Our purpose,” says Lisa Williams, “is for each individual we touch to become the best of themselves.”

SNS: The Perfect Fit

“Clean, healthy and beautiful” is easy to say but takes constant vigilance to realize. PROSE goes out of its way to select only the products that meet its stringent criteria. This goes beyond saying no to acrylics. Each brand partner’s line is carefully vetted for the absence of harsh chemicals and the presence of healthful ingredients.

Not surprisingly, SNS was an early choice as the new franchise evolved. Not only did SNS originate the dip powder category — it remains the brand most committed to both health and beauty.

Lisa Williams observes that the exceptional quality of SNS products was just part of the story. She explains: “For us it’s a relationship — with founder Joe Nguyen, with his executives, and with the customer service team. We’ve been inspired by their attention to detail and their desire to see us succeed.”

SNS dip powders have played an important role in the PROSE salons since early on. “They’re the perfect alternative to acrylics. Anna McGraw explains. “And they are so versatile. They’re great for shorter nails and or if you want to grow them longer. And they can last for weeks.” She’s also noticed how PROSE members using SNS dip powders have maintained healthy nail beds.

Expanding the Offering

Now PROSE is excited about adding SNS GelStar to their line. “We’re in love with GelStar,” says Anna’s colleague Ashlye Begay. “Gels have been a growing trend but GelStar is way better than the others. It’s stronger, and it doesn’t wrinkle when you apply it. Plus, there are so many colors! It’s great how you can match GelStar with SNS dip powders for pedicures.”

Today, the franchise brand is expanding its services further, with a relaunched beauty bar called Bloom with PROSE. Here, licensed cosmeticians offer facials with gentle, aromatic products featuring natural ingredients.

Artists – Not Techs

Perhaps the most truly revolutionary aspect of PROSE is the way the company sees its people. “We use the term ‘nail artist’ for a reason,” Lisa Williams says. “These are amazing individuals. We honor their craft, their knowledge, their creativity, their ability to relate and communicate.” This attitude means the world to young people like Anna and Ashlye, who’ve come into the industry to express themselves and help clients feel beautiful. They are treated as professionals, not “technicians”.

The respect given to PROSE nail artists creates a culture unlike any normal salon. Members benefit because staff turnover is low and there’s a happy, family atmosphere that’s easy to relax in. On a practical level, PROSE nail artists have the possibility of a real career, not just a job. They can rise to the status of trainer, and grow to take responsibility not just for a single location but an entire region, like Anna and Ashlye. To support this career path, PROSE provides constant programs of continuing education.

Listening to Lisa Williams, who not only serves as Vice President but sits on the PROSE board, it’s clear that the company’s commitment to its nail artists is more than an idea: this is a heartfelt mission. “Without the nail artists, there is no PROSE. They work so hard, with such skill, and traditionally they’ve had very little recognition. That’s why we devote so much energy to nurturing them and supporting their careers.”

Shaping the Future

With its unique combination of product values, membership experience and care for the nail professionals, PROSE is destined for more than conventional success. This is a brand that is gently revolutionizing the nail industry for the benefit of everyone involved. And there’s poetry in that!

“Without the nail artists,
there is no PROSE”

-Lisa Williams, Vice President, PROSE

The 100% Mindset

Beauty Depot Super Nail Supply

“Whatever I do, I’m totally into it,” says Andrew Tran, owner of Beauty Depot Super Nail Supply. He’s a man energized by a tough beginning and a courageous mother. She brought him to the US as one of the legendary boat people, escaping the Vietnam war. The experience left an indelible mark: “I treasure my life and my freedom,” he says. “I take nothing for granted. I’m thankful for everything America has given me.”

While he was still a schoolboy, Andrew attended lessons when his mother trained to be a nail tech. A few years later, he acquired his own license. After working in his mother’s salon for several years, he joined her brothers in their nail supply operation.

Selling by Not Selling

Today Andrew runs his own nail supply company, a flourishing 17,000 square-foot operation in Texas that’s enormously popular with the salons and professionals he serves. “I understand what they want — great product at a low price — because I’ve worked on the salon side of the business.”

The key to success, in Andrew’s eyes, is not to sell but to inform. “Make sure they fully understand the product. I don’t want them to buy and come back the next day because they had a bad experience. And be totally honest with your customers. If the product is good, tell them. If the product isn’t good, tell them that.”

The Rise of Dip Powders

Over the years, Andrew has watched the changing fashions in nail products. “It took several years for dip powders to take hold, because techs had to learn a new skill,” he recalls. “Thanks to SNS, the dip powder category now runs neck and neck with acrylics.”

Andrew saw the potential from the beginning. “I love SNS,” he says. “I always believed in this company. In fact, I was probably the first to bring SNS to the Houston market. They had a very creative approach with the quality and choice of colors they offered. Today, their products fly off my shelves, every hour of every day.” Asked why SNS dip powders have risen to such prominence, the nail-tech-turned-distributor is quick to answer. “More colors... odorless... easy to apply... easy to remove.”

Spreading Confidence

Over the years, Andrew has seen imitators of SNS come into the market. But none of them has measured up in terms of quality or color choice. He’s excited that SNS now offers matching colors in dip powders, gels and polishes, a big win with his professional customers.

But for Andrew, it all comes back to the end-consumer, the salons’ own clients. “Nails are the fastest path to beauty — easier than putting together a new outfit or changing hairstyles. For any woman, perfecting her nails is the surest way to feel great about how she looks. And that’s what we’re all here for.”

What People Are Saying

“SNS Dip powders make a thin, light weight, natural-looking nail all my clients love!”

Sharon Bowen, Salon Owner

“SNS is fantastic for this industry because it’s promoting the concept of health for the nails.”

Claudia Santos, Distributor

“SNS dip powder is so easy to use. Loads of beautiful colors. Healthier for the nails and amazing feedback from my customers.”

Georgiana Dumitru, Nail Technician

“Anytime I go to the nail salon, I always get the SNS nail service. The SNS color selection is excellent. SNS keeps my nails healthy, and I love how long SNS last.”

Rachel P. Kissimmee, Client

“For client after client, the SNS experience has been a wow!”

Yvonne Venage-Mohl, Salon Owner

Conquering Chicago

Lynamy Beauty Supply

“I thought I knew all about nails,” says Maia Q Tran, recalling her first steps into the nail product business. “In reality I didn’t know anything!” As owner of the most successful nail supply operation in the Midwest, she can look back with amusement at her early stumbles.

Today, salon owners, nail techs and even consumers flock to her 8,000 square foot showroom to select from a vast array of products and seek guidance from her expert staff.

Bold Beginnings

Born in Vietnam and trained in Dallas as a cosmetologist, Maia’s original focus was hair, and for some 15 years she ran a successful hair salon. But increasingly she set her sights on owning a product supply business. Moving to Chicago, she noticed the huge number of nail salons in the city, and the paucity of suppliers. She purchased a property next to a supermarket and began to build her new company, learning the quirks and challenges of the nail industry as she grew.

“Those early years were hard,” she recalls. She feels lucky to have had the support of her husband, a gifted engineer. Today, both he and their daughter play key roles in the thriving company.

First with SNS

Word of mouth, more than advertising, grew the young business. A major turning point occurred when Maia met Joe Nguyen, founder of SNS, at a trade show. At the time, no one was carrying SNS products in Chicago, and Maia negotiated an exclusive agreement.

“Joe is a great person,” Maia says. “He’s super smart and very supportive. In those early days he came to Chicago every month to give product demonstrations at our showroom.”

Asked why she gives a special place to SNS in her product line, Maia is quick to point out that SNS launched the dip powder category. Even today, with many competing imitators, SNS is still the best in her view. “They have a huge choice of colors. And my customers love that they have matching gels and polishes.”

It’s not just SNS dip powders that are selling well for Maia. She’s finding a growing demand for Air Ombre™, the spray-on nail art innovation from SNS. “People are buying the whole collection!”

A Future with Heart

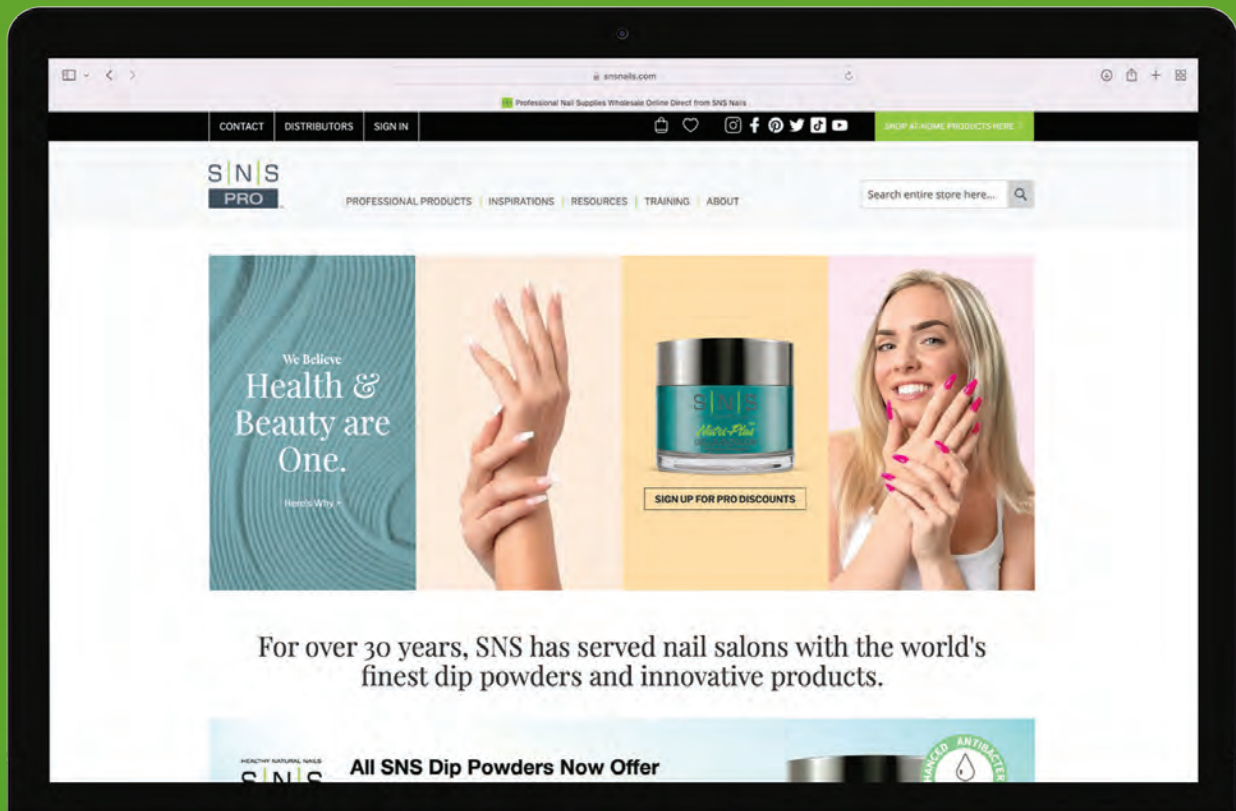

The future looks exciting for Lynamy Beauty Supply. Since the pandemic, nail salons have been booming. “I honestly don’t know why,” says Maia, “but I think nails are bigger than hair. For a woman today, getting her nails done at a salon is pure therapy. It’s not just that professionals do a better job than she can. Women love all that pampering.”

Now her company is remodeling their premises, almost 40,000 square feet in total with showroom and warehouse. However large she grows, though, Maia will always focus first on customer service.

“The secret to success is simple,” she explains. “Be friendly, be honest, and be sincere.”
